Executive Bio

Dr. Renee Matthews has appeared on television shows such as, The Oprah Winfrey Show and TVOne's NewsOne Now with Roland Martin where she discussed different health topics. She started her media career with her own radio show on SiriusXM/ReachMD, a programming source for health professionals. In addition, Dr. Renee has been a featured medical correspondent on SiriusXM's Sway in the Morning and Cafè Mocha Radio with MC Lyte and Loni Love. Dr. Renee earned her undergraduate degree in 1999 and her Medical Doctorate in 2005. She spent the early part of her medical career as an educator on cord blood for numerous hospitals and attending staff.

Dr. Renee is an asthmatic, which drives her passion for asthma education. She addresses the concerns of asthma sufferers, by supplying them with the tools and knowledge they need to receive the best medical care. In 2013, Dr. Renee received the Friend of Mobile C.A.R.E. Award for her commitment to raising awareness of asthma in the city of Chicago.

Dr. Renee is a contributing writer for Ebony Magazine where she addresses topics such as asthma, health, and wellness. Dr. Renee is the contributing health blogger for MadameNoire.com, BlackandMarriedwithKids.com, BlackDoctor.org, DiaryofaFirstTimemom.com and GoodEnoughMother.com; a leading community dedicated to moms providing advice and exposing the myths of motherhood. She is also a sought after speaker for various health organizations and schools. In addition to writing about health, Dr. Renee conducts speaking engagements on social media, branding, motivation, and becoming an entrepreneur.

Dr. Renee is a Daisy Scout Leader with Girl Scouts of America and a member of the Vestry at her church. She continues to work on her long-term goal of educating and transforming the community toward optimal wellness. Dr. Renee has become a leader in the healthcare industry.
